Listazo Free [Mac/Win] [2022]

Listazo is a great tool for cataloging your multimedia, books and software files. The software comes with a variety of fields that can be assigned to each category. All the multimedia-related files are accessible in a separate database. Thanks to built-in downloaders, you can have all the information readily available in any multimedia format. Lists are organized in tabs with metadata fields for all the categories. There are several methods to add the data entries. One can either import a spreadsheet file or enter it manually. The software allows to keep track of all the information regarding movies and music such as the title, the location, the year of release, the author, the number of scenes and more. You can also include the year you received the video cassette tape for your multimedia data. With Listazo, you can catalog all your books by memorizing the title, the author, the publisher, the publisher's catalog number, the genre and much more. For software, you can also write down information about the creator, the version, the size, the rating, the price and the exact location. The software allows you to create all kinds of custom lists. Listazo Features: *

Catalog all your books, movies, programs, and videos * Manage your multimedia data, independent of the application * Get information about your programs and audio books * Create and organize custom lists * Import and store multimedia files, programs and books * Keep track of the ownership of all multimedia assets * Automatically add information about media, books, and applications * Use text fields or import data from an Excel spreadsheet Pro

1000: Video Editor Ultra for Mac AviSync is a simple video recording application but is equipped with some rather impressive features. It allows you to cut video and audio clips into smaller pieces, stream the video on the Internet, and play it back. Cutting video into smaller pieces Before you can edit or cut a video, you have to format it before you start recording. This is because unlike video editing software, AviSync does not allow you to pick and choose where a clip will be played and this can create some problems. AviSync automatically picks the best source to play the video clip. If you want to modify the recorded file, you can either do so right from the edit screen or can choose any other file from the Media library which can have up to 14 different selections to choose from. Makes video available on
