Report: Nashville Predators Draft Lottery Results The Nashville Predators won the 2013 NHL Draft lottery making them the new division leaders along with the wildcard Winnipeg Jets. Many Preds fans were enamored with the thought of the Preds winning the lottery and possibly picking T.J. Oshie. Granted, the Preds were only 5 points back from the second wild card in the West at the end of the season; however, I can't help but think there would have been a vastly different story had the Preds not been so close to making the playoffs. Mark Scheifele Of MTL Has A Lot Of Love For The Nashville Predators Regarded as the best goaltending prospect in all of hockey, free agent goaltender and Winnipeg Jets T.J. Oshie will not be heading to Nashville any time soon. A restricted free agent, the Nashville Predators will have to send a "pro-rated" fourth-round pick to the Jets as his signing bonus. As reported by Puck Daddy's Greg Wyshynski, the Jets will only receive a "5-percent discount" on that pick with the caveat that if he "signs elsewhere, he'll void the trade." This is where the Preds get really lucky, because despite the fact that they had a better record (and points total) than the Jets, they came in with four tenths of a percentage point advantage in winning the lottery. Given that the Frozen Four Select Division winner, as well as Frozen Four champion receives the second overall pick, the Preds are awarded the second overall pick in the upcoming 2013 NHL Draft. According to the NHL Draft Guide, they typically go with a defenseman in the first round, and usually go with wingers and centermen later in the first round. Projected Nashville Predators 2013 Draft Order The Predators will most likely only have two selections in the second round as they are projected to take Sam Reinhart, a left winger out of Sam Lake Superior State University and the greatest North American prospect since Sidney Crosby, and then Nikolai Prokhorin, a defencemen out of Peterborough MA Panthers will most likely follow. If Nashville Picks Sam Reinhart If Nashville Picks Nikolai Prokhorin Friday - Sam Reinhart (HSBC) RW 6'1 - 175 lbs 201 - Sam Reinhart - Lake Superior State University A member of
