What's New in the DRPU Rich Snippet Generator?

DRPU Rich Snippet Generator is an extremely user-friendly program that lets you write the code for virtually any type of snippets in a way that looks professional. The program lets you combine the professional appearance of your snippets with the functionality of an actual programming language. With this program, you can create snippets for people, organizations, products, events, movies, books, reviews and much more. To create a snippet, you can simply select one of these categories, select "Generate Snippet", then select the template that matches your categories. After that, fill in the appropriate information. For example, when creating a snippet for a product, you can select its name, URL, an URL towards an image, some text describing the image, its description, the brand, and the number of reviews. In the same manner, you can generate snippets for a person or an organization, and you can also create snippets for movies and books. The program also includes all the technical details you need to create a complete snippet. To do this, you need to enter the name of the manufacturer, model, ID and price, select the condition and whether it's available or not, and add your personal rating. This is the only snag to this excellent software - the program does not display any images linked to the templates.
